sale cheap, at HART'S, corner Ninth street and Third avenue.

By Letters Patent secured in 1849. Pulvermageher's Fatent flydro Electric Voltaic Chains, constructed to be worn under the garments, are the most wonderful discovery in medicine and electricity of the present day. They relieve, without pain or shock, instantaneously, acute nervous pains, such as head, ear, and toothe ache, rheumatic pains, tie doloreux, &c., and by their mill but continuous and preceptible action on the body, discases of years' standing—such as gout, local paralysis, nervous complaints, liver diseases, &c.—disappear as if by a miracle. They have been applied with the greatest_success in all these dreadful diseases in children, commonly called convulsions, as also in cases of techting, ander difficulties and disorders of the bowels. They precipitate metals from their solutions, decompose water, deflect the magnetic needle, in short, show all the phenomenon of a powerful voltaic oile. The instruments producing these effects weigh about two ounces, can be folded up in apocket-book, are always rendy for instantaneous use, and will last a man his lifetime, guarding himself, family and friends, &c., against that number of diseases and complaints in which mild streaming electricity is a perfectly safe, certain, and wondorful speedy remedy. The price of a complete chain is from $1 to $5: batteries, $10 to $22 50.

Lucredible as may seem the above facts, any person can easily convince himself beforehand, at the depot, of their truth. The importance of the invention has been ac knowledged in America by the Academy of Medicine of New York, and the chains have been applied with great success in the medical colleges, the City, Bellevue, and Ward's Island Hospitals, Brooklyn City Hospital, &c.; in Europe, by the Reyal Colleges of Physicians and Surgeons in London; by the Academie Nationale de Medecin st Paris; by the Imperial faculty at Vienna; by the Royal faculty at Vienna; by the Royal faculty at Vienna; by the Royal faculty at Vienna; by the K of the highest order, including the principal hospitals in Europe.

The propractors are in possession of testimonials to the same effect, from all the above institutions in America, and Europe, as well as of the most eminent and distinguished members of the profession in both hemispheres, and invite the public to examine them.

Full and illustrated descriptions—one for personal use and one for scientific men—with copies of testimonials and a number of cases cured in New York and Europe, may be obtained, gratis, at the office. They will be forwarded, free of postage, to any part of the United States, in answer to prepaid inquiries, containing three cents postage stamps.

Professor Morse's Invigorating Elixir, or Cordial, the eighth wonder of the botanic world.

CURS OF MENOVES DISEASES.

No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the diseased, debilitated, and shattered nervous system. Whether broken down by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. The mental and physical symptoms of nervous disease vanish together under its indiuence. The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man—he stands erect; he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom, or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright, buoyant, active, and he goes forth refreshed, regenerated, and conscious of new vigor, to his accustomed occupations. Nor is the effect temporary. On the contrary, the relief is permanent, for the cordial properties of the medicine reach the constitution itself, and restore it to its normal condition. Well may the preparation be called the Sold by C. H. RING General Agent for the United States.

Sixty-five more Deaths from Consumption last week.—I will now give $1,000 to the friends of any one of those deceased, if they can prove they took one bottle of magnetic puimonic syrup, within three months previous to death. TALBOT WATIS, magnetist, compounder of the nervous antidote, 424 Greenwich street.

Consumption.—I will cure Consumption for $20, or forfeit $1,000, if the patient dies after taking one bottle of magnetic pulmonic syrup, providing they keep on taking it until they get well. The bottle generally lasts about a month, containing one hundred doses, about three times a day, $5. TALBOT WATTS, author of the nervous antidote, 424 Greenwich street.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Tie Doloreux, cramps, debility, and all nervous complaints, speedily and permanently cured, by Watts' nervous antidote. Any person doubting its elicacy, should call on the Hon. Henry Meigs, President of the American Institute, and ask his opinion of its wonderful curative power. $1 per bottle.

Science.—I cut the following from the London Journal of Psychological Medicine—article, Magnetism, page 178:—Watts' Nervous Antidote.—"Almost every age and country have produced some such mysterious wonder, some powerful compound, that cures every disease it is taken for, yet invariably dies with the compounder, as if some peculiar herbs or medicines absorb the peculiar magnetic fluids of some men, while compounding that others have no control over, so that when that happy result occurs, the world has a positive and universal panacea; but unfortunately such powerful magnetic fluids seldom emanate from young persons. We know that Dr. Watts, the author of this last wonder in the world's annals of Therapira, is between 50 and 60 years of age?" I will cut off what follows, for fear of harting your feelings. Yours, &c. GED. ABNER.

TRENEST BUCKUP'S CALORIC ENGINE PATENTED

Boston, Feb. 23, 1853.

RNIST BUCKUP'S CALORIC ENGINE PATENTED at Washington, July 2, 1850, and in various parts of Europe.—Mr. Buckup desires to inform his fellow citizens that his engine, having been submitted to a series of scrutinizing tests, its efficiency is fully established. The great superiority of baloric ever steam, as a motive and mechanical power, both as regards economy and perfect security against explosion, is too evident to require illustration; and the practicability of its use, as a substitute for steam, having been fully demonstrated by successful experiments, the inference is inevitable that the caloric will supersede the steam engine. Mr. Buckup is fully prepared for the prompt execution of any orders with which he may be favored for caloric engines; is able to compete with any other similar establishment, and ready to guarantee his engines as equal to any which can be built. Mr. B. is now constructing one for exhibition at the World's Fair. Mr. Buckup wishes to state, that he has perfected arrangements in England to supply engines to such parts of Europe where he has obtained patents.

Mr. J. P. GRAOT, his European partner, has also charge of his office, 175 Broadway.
